

MAGNUS COLE
JUNIOR TENNIS PLAYER | PANAMA

Every Great Journey Starts Somewhere

Magnus Cole discovered tennis at a young age and quickly developed a strong affinity for the sport's rhythm, precision, and competitive demands. What began as after-school practice evolved into a consistent, daily commitment—grounded in discipline, curiosity, and a genuine drive to improve.

As his game progressed, Magnus learned to compete with composure, manage pressure in close moments, and approach each match as an opportunity to grow. Through structured training and the support of a dedicated team, he has established himself as one of Panama's leading Under-10 players, recognized for his work ethic and sportsmanship as much as for his results.

Today, Magnus represents Panama with pride on and off the court, and he is focused on continuing his development through higher-level events, stronger competition, and the next stage of his tennis journey.

International Experience

Recent CONTECA Tournament - Costa Rica

In 2026, Magnus began competing regularly on the CONTECA junior circuit, gaining valuable international experience against many of Central America's strongest young players. His recent tournament in Costa Rica demonstrated both his competitive ability and his capacity for growth under pressure.

- Competed against top players from Costa Rica, Honduras, and Belize
- Secured wins over international opponents in multiple matches
- Four closely contested matches against leading Costa Rican players
- One tiebreak loss and another match with match points against a Costa Rican opponent
- Showed significant improvement and adaptation throughout the tournament

International competition has accelerated Magnus's development, exposing him to different playing styles, court conditions, and the mental demands of representing Panama abroad.
